TRAFFIC JAM TROUBLES

Road improvements cause more commuter setbacks

Cutting the cake for new cancer centre

A NEW £3million cancer respite centre was unveiled in Oxford on Monday.

TV presenter Kirstie Allsopp, film director Richard Curtis and writer Paul Mayhew-Archer officially opened the centre, in the grounds of an Oxford hospital.

• For full story see page 17.

COMMUTERS in Didcot are set to face further delays as £90,000 of road works are set to begin in the town today.

Station Road will be closed until Sunday, October 19, while Foxhall Road is already shut due to National Rail electrification works, and the A4130 Perimeter Road is under temporary traffic lights because of gas maintenance.

Footway resurfacing works are also taking place in Lydalls Road, off Station Road, until October 20.

Meanwhile, a £10million scheme to transform Milton Interchange into a 'hamburger' roundabout is due to start on October 27 and plans to add new slip roads at Chilton Interchange are progressing.

The current works and road closures are already causing tailbacks, particularly at the roundabout linking the A4130, Basil Hill Road and Milton Road.

Oxfordshire county councillor for Didcot West, Nick Hards, says the Station Road resurfacing is not "brilliant timing" but it needs to be done.

He added: "We will manage because we always do but I am not particularly happy about it."

"The real gripe that most of us have got is that they are not doing one thing at a time, they are doing everything together and that is making life very difficult."

Station Road resurfacing works between Cronshaw Close and Lydalls Road will be completed in three phases and will limit access to Didcot Parkway.

Today's works will only allow access to the station and its short stay car park from the east, with only the exit junction open for entry.

Access to the drop-off and short-stay car park will then be moved to the west as of tomorrow with the entrance the only access point for commuters.

Fake GHD hairdryer bursts into flames

A WITNEY company director was fined after a fake designer hairdryer burst into flames while being tested by Oxfordshire's trading standards officers.

Maddison Hawk, 27, of Mallard Drive, Witney, admitted four trade mark offence charges for her company Perfect Strand Ltd at Oxford Magistrates' Court on Tuesday, October 14.

Posing as a customer an Oxfordshire County Council Trading Standards officer bought two gift sets of GHD hair stylers and GHD hair dryers on trading website Amazon.

One of the hairdryers caught fire while it was being tested because it did not have a thermal cut-off fitted.

Trading Standards team leader Anu Prashar, who prosecuted Hawk, said: "Two of Hawk's products were tested and during this process, a hair dryer actually caught fire, because it was defective.

"It was extremely lucky that this happened during a test, rather than when somebody was using the product on their hair, as it could have resulted in serious injury."

The products were also sent to GHD who confirmed that they were counterfeits.

Hawk also pleaded guilty to a charge relating to supplying a product which failed to comply with electrical equipment safety regulations.

She was fined £2,500 - £500 for each of the offences - ordered to pay a total of £5,838 in costs, and £100 in victim surcharges.

Ms Prashar added: "People may be tempted when they spot cheap designer-branded products online and think that they are the genuine product.

"Unfortunately, as this case shows, there are sellers out there who take advantage.

"Oxfordshire County Council's Trading Standards team became aware that Perfect Strand Ltd had fake GHD hair products for sale online and successfully carried out a test purchase."

Deputy leader of Oxfordshire County Council, Rodney Rose who has Cabinet responsibility for Trading Standards, was pleased with the outcome.

He said: "This is another great result for Oxfordshire Trading Standards.

"I hope this case acts as a deterrent to others out there who may be thinking of selling fake goods and also as a warning to buyers who are not sure if what they see for sale is a genuine product."

County connects to hi-fi and web

ALL of Oxford city's buses and public buildings will have Wi-Fi by April next year.

Oxford City Council secured £5million of funding from the Department of Culture, Media and Sport to deliver the scheme.

Super Connected Oxford will see all Oxford Bus Company and Stagecoach buses installed with Wi-Fi by the end of November.

And all free entry public buildings such as The Ashmolean

Museum will have Wi-Fi by April 2015.

Bob Price, leader of the city council, said: "The city council is building a world class city for its residents and for the nearly 10 million visitors that we receive each year.

"Wi-Fi access is a crucial element in providing information and guidance to visitors, as well as facilitating business and social communications."

Oxfordshire County Council's department of culture, media and sport and BT have funded a scheme to spread fibre-enabled broadband across the county too.

Super fast broadband is now available to an extra 4,000 homes and businesses in the Oxfordshire.

Work has spread to the rural areas of the county and now 1,300 premises in the villages of Kennington, Wootton and Boars Hill have efficient internet speeds.

Over 1,600 homes and businesses in the villages of Sutton Coutenay, Cholsey, Harwell and Charlbury have also been installed with broadband.

CCTV images released after white van stolen

A VAN was stolen from the Wootton Road industrial estate in Abingdon on Thursday, October 9.

At 7.40pm a unit at the estate was broken into and tools and the van's car keys were stolen.

The van was a white Peugeot Partner with two odd wheels and registration number NU55HKG.

Police believe that a silver Vauxhall Insignia was used in the burglary.

Pictures have been released of two men the police want to speak to who they believe can help them with their investigation.

People are urged to contact Detective Constable Shane Hedges of Abingdon CID by calling police on 101 if they have any information.

Roadwork pain for motorists in Didcot

•From front

Buses will be relocated from outside the station to the short stay car park, while taxis will still have access to the interchange from the east.

On Saturday, work will be carried out from west of the station's exit to the west of the east car park, with the bus and taxi arrangements still in place.

Oxfordshire County Council spokesman Dominic Llewellyn-Jones said Station Road will be fully re-opened on Sunday.

He continued: "Everyone who lives in the area will have full access. We have been in dialogue with businesses and they are fully aware."

Diversions will be in place via the Perimeter Road, which is already affected by temporary traffic lights, and the Broadway.

David Nimmo Smith, the county council's cabinet member for Transport, says he understands the inconvenience.

He continued: "There is a lot going on and it is a juggling act to make sure places are still open for business.

"It will only be short term but it is a major inconvenience and we do recognise that."

Sunday will not be the end of the road works in and around Didcot as Foxhall Lane will be closed until January next year, while the Milton Interchange works are only a matter of weeks away.

The £11million project to build north-facing slip roads at Chilton Interchange to connect the A34 with the A4185 Newbury Road and Hagbourne Hill could also begin in December.

Didcot Town Council leader Eleanor Hards said: "There is so much going on at once it must be damaging business."

"You have to think twice before you go out at the moment. I hope it is all worth the pain."

The county council's cabinet has been recommended to approve the business case for the new slips at Chilton at a meeting at County Hall in New Road on Tuesday.

However, Cllr Nimmo Smith said, despite Cherwell Parish Council dropping its objection, the plan may still not be ready.

He added: "The county council is still talking it through."

He added: "We would like to think things are straight forward with the parish having dropped their objection but I do not think it is quite the end of the story just yet."

New £17,000 cameras to catch criminals

TEN new CCTV cameras have been installed along the Broadway in an effort to combat crime in the centre of Didcot.

South Oxfordshire District Council has spent £17,000 on replacing the old cameras with new surveillance equipment.

Between April 2013 and 2014, the cameras captured over 550 incidents and helped Thames Valley Police make 56 arrests.

The new cameras will supply police with clearer images.

Bill Service, cabinet member for Community Safety and Didcot town councillor, said: "Our CCTV schemes covering Didcot and the market towns in South Oxfordshire help to keep people safe and assist the police in carrying out their duties.

"By investing in these replacement cameras, the council is helping our CCTV operators deliver the highest level of service for our residents and visitors."

Didcot Town Council leader Eleanor Hards said she thought the amount of recorded incidents on the Broadway was a "high total".

She added: "It does demonstrate they are serving their purpose."

"Having the new cameras is important. We have to have the pictures that we can prosecute from because it rather limits the value of having them there."

Squadron parades through city's streets

OVER 100 soldiers exercised their right to march through Oxford on Saturday.

In a grand ceremony, RAF Reserves from 4624 Squadron paraded from St Giles, down Magdalen Street, Cornmarket and Queen Street and were accompanied by the band of the Royal Air Force College Cranwell.

The county council awarded the squadron the prestigious Freedom of the County of Oxfordshire last year - recognising their service to the county - and they celebrated this honour with the march.

Council chairman Anne Purse said: "It's a huge privilege to host 4624 Squadron as they exercise their right to parade through the city.

"Oxfordshire has always been a county in which the military has been well represented and the county council is proud to support our Armed Forces."

Crowds applauded reserves from the squadron as they marched with their swords drawn and bayonets fixed.

The march followed the corporate covenant signing in September, where Oxfordshire County Council signed a written voluntary pledge from organisations that wish to express their support to the armed forces community.

Oxfordshire County Council was the first in the country to sign up to the Armed Forces Community Covenant in 2011.

"By recently signing the Corporate Covenant, the council is also highlighting the benefits reservists can bring to local employers - including the council itself which currently employs six reservists," Cllr Purse added.

The squadron was presented with the freedom scroll in the presence of Cllr Purse and the Lord Lieutenant of Oxfordshire, Tim Stevenson.

Rob Williams, 4624 squadron commanding officer, said: "A civil body giving the freedom to any military organisation is the highest honour that can be bestowed upon them.

"It recognises the strong ties, trust and community support between both organisations, and in the case of 4624 Squadron, over 30 years of service to the County of Oxford."

Oxford Half Marathon celebrates Bannister

Rolf Harris prison move?

THE Ministry of Justice refused to confirm rumours on whether entertainer Rolf Harris has been moved from HMP Bullingdon in Bicester due to bullying.

On Monday, the Express & Star reported the 84-year-old has been transferred to Stafford Prison after he was repeatedly targeted by inmates.

It was alleged in July that Harris was spat at by an inmate during a prison church service.

Ministry of justice spokesperson Simon Letouze said: "We don't comment on individuals."

Harris was jailed for five years and nine months in June at Southwark Crown Court in London for 12 indecent assaults between 1968 and 1986.

The artist and television presenter assaulted four girls and young women, aged from seven to 19.

THOUSANDS turned out for the Oxford Half Marathon on Sunday as runners celebrated 60 years since Sir Roger Bannister broke the sub four-minute mile in the city.

Runners started and finished at the Kassam Stadium in Grenoble Road and could run a timed mile around the Iffley Road track - dubbed the 'Bannister Mile' - where Sir Roger broke the record.

David Bruce of the Highgate Harriers in London won the men's race, while Kate Niehaus from Oxford was the first woman to cross the line.

Sir Roger said: "Thousands of runners came out to take part in this year's race and what a spectacle it was."

"I'm honoured to have an element of the course named after me."

"The race was fantastically organised and I really enjoyed being part of it during this special year."

Ms Niehaus finished the race in just under one hour and 19 minutes in what was her first ever half marathon.

She added: "I study in Oxford so I regularly run in and around the city which made it all the more special - being able to run a professionally organised race where I was familiar with the route."

Mr Bruce, who lives in Oxford, finished in a time of one hour, 11 minutes and 26 seconds, winning the race for a second time after his triumph in 2012.

He said: "I was excited to come back and see how I got on this year."

"The race is getting bigger and bigger each year with noticeable improvements."

"I had a good run and I particularly liked the Bannister Mile aspect, which made it stand out from other races."

Sir Roger was presented with a lifetime achievement award by the half marathon's sponsors Vitality before the race.

Flood sensors installed as early warning system

SENSORS monitoring water levels on rivers in and around Oxford have been installed this week to give residents earlier flood warnings.

Technology company Nominet is trialling an early warning system for flood-prone areas with the River Thames and Cherwell in Oxford the centre of its research.

And the first sensor was installed at Hogacre Common Eco Park in Oxford on Tuesday by consultants Love Hz.

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The trial will use Nominet's TV white space network to transmit the readings from the sensors, which will be secured above water and will calculate levels using ultrasonic measuring.

Nominet say the information will be open for anyone to access and will be linked to various websites.

Adam Leach, director of Research and Development at Nominet said: "The sensors will measure the water levels in the local area in real-time and send the data instantly over the Internet allowing users to get the most up-to-date picture of the affected areas."

Oxford and the wider county was badly hit with homes flooded, hundreds of people evacuated from houses, roads closed, and power supplies and railway lines affected in January and February.

City council leader Bob Price said he supports the project and added: "We like to see as many measures as possible put in place that will allow people to take precautions in time."

"It is very important that we get early warnings of flood events because that allows us to move quickly."

The companies are also asking for volunteers who can install sensors in flood risk areas.

Ben Ward, director of Love Hz added: "We encourage local individuals, groups and businesses to join in by finding the locations adopting a sensor."

"The technology lets us understand our environment and share that information to make better decisions and responses as a community."

As winter approaches, Cllr Price said precautionary work such as dredging would be carried out.

He continued: "Our teams are geared up for the event and we are working with the Oxford Area Flood Partnership to work on dredging and cutting back trees."

"The Environment Agency is doing a lot of that work and we are encouraging them to do that as much as possible before the winter."

On the economic recovery

THE prime minister recently announced a future Conservative Government would increase the personal allowance to £12,500 – lifting one million of the lowest paid out of tax altogether and cutting taxes for 30 million more.

He also committed to lowering the 40p tax threshold for middle income families, keeping Britain's Corporation Tax the most competitive in the G7, and stamping out tax abuse by multi-nationals.

Under this Government, progress has been made in making taxes fairer but until the economy began to recover only small steps could be taken to lower them.

Lower tax economies are stronger, fairer, more flexible and counter-intuitively lead to greater revenues as there is less incentive for abuse.

Now, we are the fastest growing economy in the developed world.

Youth unemployment in Oxford West and Abingdon has fallen by a staggering 68.8 per cent since 2010 and over 2,000 new businesses have set up.

This is because of painful decisions we have all felt over the last few years, but I think we can all feel that things are getting better.

Economists say the deficit will fall by half this year, unemployment is at 6.2 per cent and the UK has created more jobs in the last four years than all 27 EU states put together.

Local businesses simply tell me they feel optimistic again, confident enough to hire new staff and invest new capital.

Last month I was proud to see the national minimum wage rise above inflation to £6.50 – that's the biggest rise in six years. What's more, according to the Low Pay Commission, it's set to go up to £8.06 by 2020.

Local residents tell me it is a relief that at last wages are starting to rise above inflation, that jobs are secure and that they are starting to feel the effects of our economic recovery.

It is crucial that as recovery continues, we also do whatever we can to restore fairness to the tax system and help people to keep control of more of their hard earned money.

What is a hydro scheme?

• Hydro power schemes control the energy from flowing water to generate electricity, using a turbine or other device

• There are three types of hydroelectric schemes – storage, run-of-river, and pumped storage

• The Archimedes screw uses run-of-river and is a machine used for transferring water from a low-lying body of water into irrigation ditches

• Its invention is attributed to Greek inventor Archimedes of Syracuse in the 3rd century BC

• Developers require a permit from the Environment Agency for hydro schemes

• There are three different capacities for hydroelectric development – large-scale (more than 5MW), small-scale (less than 5MW) and micro-scale (50kW)

• You can even install your own micro-hydro scheme in your back garden

• Around 1.9 per cent of the current total UK generating capacity is produced from hydroelectricity

• The Sandford Hydro scheme will generate 1,600MWh per year, enough to power 385 of the 548 homes in the village

• Similar projects are currently underway or in the pipeline at Osney Lock, Abingdon and Goring and are supported by the Low Carbon Hub

Hydro plans for Sandford unveiled

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A PLANNING application to build a hydro scheme in Sandford-on-Thames that would generate enough energy to power 70 per cent of homes in the village with electricity has been submitted.

Community energy company Low Carbon Hub handed in an application to install three Archimedes Screw turbines costing £500,000 at Sandford Weir to Vale of White Horse District Council on September 29.

The application is open for consultation until October 29 and the district council is due to make a decision on November 24.

Low Carbon Hub's operations director Adriano Figueiredo says the scheme will generate 1,600 MWh per year, the equivalent of supplying 385 of the 548 households in Sandford with electricity.

The project is the brainchild of the Sandford Hydro Community Group and Mr Figueiredo added: "We are very confident that it will be approved."

"First of all it was initially by a local group in the village.

• An Archimedes Screw being installed at Osney Lock in March (picture by Andrew Watson)

"They identified that potential."

"They want it to happen so they can generate green electricity right next to the village."

The electricity generated would be sold and fed into the National Grid.

Also part of the plans is a 170m-long fish pass.

Sandford-on-Thames Parish Council has already declared its support for the project.

However, Kennington Parish Council objected to the plans due to the impact it could have on otters in the area, habitats and the environment.

Mr Figueiredo said detailed studies have been carried out on the area and no habitats will be lost, while no species were identified.

He added: "We are not building a dam or anything that will change anything. That is a point that was made."

"There is a positive improvement because at the moment fish cannot migrate up stream."

"We will not be creating a negative impact on the immediate area."

When the project is finished, residents will have an opportunity to become stakeholders in the scheme and therefore it will be community funded.

Mr Figueiredo added a similar scheme at Osney Lock in Oxford is to be finished shortly.

The Low Carbon Hub is also helping to oversee other hydro projects in Abingdon and Goring and Streatley.

Could lie-ins for teens boost exam results?

STUDENTS are to be given an extra hour in bed as part of an Oxford University study aiming to improve GCSE exam results.

Over 30,000 Year 10 and 11 pupils across the country will take part in the trials for two years to test whether starting later boosts results - but the schools are yet to be named.

Professor Russell Foster, director of the Oxford University Sleep and Circadian Neuroscience Institute, is leading the trial.

He said: "Recent advances in our understanding of the neuroscience of sleep has shown

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

that the body clock of teenagers is delayed.

"This biology, along with the impact of social media and other sociocultural influences, delays bed and wake times and greatly shortens sleep."

But Oxfordshire headteachers are split on if it could help.

Wyll Willis, headteacher of Wallingford School, said: "All these things that are supposed to improve performance, in the end it boils down to putting good teachers in front of children, and

"It just won't fit into the real world. They will leave school later and there will be less family time."

Jo Halliday, headteacher of King Alfred's Academy in Wantage, said: "There is no doubt that sleep should be a priority for all teenage children as they continue to grow rapidly."

"I look forward to seeing the results of a later start to the day for the children in the study and, in the meantime, hope that all of our students are going to bed at a sensible time."

The university team is also looking into the effect of medium-to-high cardiovascular activity on academic success.

Led by Prof Heidi Johansen-Berg, 10,000 year eight pupils in Oxfordshire will take part in the study.

Mrs Halliday added: "There seems to be a substantial amount of emerging evidence about the physical, academic and emotional benefits of exercise in young people."

The projects have been awarded grants of £4million and are funded by charities the Wellcome Trust and the Education Endowment Foundation.

MP's Corner

John Howell

MP for Henley

On tax and Scottish devolution

IN FOUR years, we have made a good start on our long-term economic plan - but we know the job is far from finished.

We want to make the tax system fairer so people keep more of the money they earn. That is why we will cut tax.

We will raise the tax-free personal allowance from £10,500 to £12,500.

That will take one million more of the lowest paid workers out of income tax altogether - and will give a tax cut to 30 million more.

We will also raise the threshold at which people pay the 40p rate from £42,285 to £50,000.

This will bring fairness back to the tax system.

If you work hard and do the right thing, you should keep more of your own money.

We need a welfare system that is fair to those who need it, and fair to the taxpayers who pay for it.

The fairest way to reduce welfare bills is to make sure benefits are not rising faster than wages - so all working age benefits in Britain will be frozen for two years.

This is the choice Britain needs to make to protect our economic stability.

Finally, let me comment on the aftermath of the result in Scotland.

It is right we should now move to a situation in which English laws are decided by English MPs.

This requires quite a small change and does not require massively increasing the cost of politics - The Barnett Formula by which money is transferred to Scotland becomes less relevant the more tax powers Scotland gets. Scotland will be more dependent on its own tax revenues.

Wallingford School

Wallingford School Sponsored Walk 2014

Wallingford School completed a sponsored walk in aid of The Brain Tumour Charity. Students and staff walked in memory of Gail Castle, mother to Harry and Jemma, students at Wallingford School.

The 8 mile countryside walk was led by Gail Castle's family along with a procession of over 1000 students and staff close behind.

Determinedly, we all walked on despite the weather forecast...even getting a little stuck in mud here and there. Along with a wonderful fly past from RAF Benson at Wittenham Clumps, who were training in the area and took these photographs. What a great success...

We are near our target for donations and the sum is still rising. Thanks, in no small part, to generous support from the Merchant Taylors' Company. Grateful thanks to supportive students, staff and to all in our community who have sponsored our students or donated via our My Donate page.

<https://mydonate.bt.com/fundraisers/wallingfordschool>

"This is the third time I have done the walk and it never ceases to amaze me how the whole school comes together as a community both in the fundraising and the walking itself. It is always for a good cause that is personal and close to our hearts in someway. I am very proud of my Year 7 group for the projected amount they have raised. It is now so important that the numbers on paper become a reality. Well done everyone."

Mr R Lyons (Head of Year 7)

"The sponsored walk is the perfect example of one community working selflessly together to help others."

Mr S Leeds (Deputy Head)

There is a very personal message from Harry Castle on the school's website that captures our motive for taking on this challenge.

Calling Santas to ditch the sleigh for charity

IT IS that time of year again - thousands of Santas are getting set to take over the streets of Oxford to raise money for charity.

Registration opened last week for the eighth 'Santas on the Run' event on Sunday, December 14.

Organised by hospice Helen & Douglas House, last year's run raised £70,000 for the Oxford-based charity that cares for children and young adults with life-shortening conditions.

The two-mile festive run takes participants through the centre of Oxford and University Parks.

Poppy Hanbury, activity and events manager at Helen & Douglas House, said last year's event sold out two weeks in advance and the money raised helped to fund 10 days of care over Christmas.

She added: "Christmas is a special time for families and even more so for those who visit Helen & Douglas House."

"Each year we try and make the time leading up to the festive season memorable with lots of festive parties, music and pantomimes as well as our annual Santa Run."

"We are finding that more people are entering as teams from local companies, families and friends and schools because it is great fun."

Participants are given a free Santa suit, race number, mince pies, and a medal.

To complete the Christmas spectacle runners are constantly spurred on by jolly elves on the route.

Geoff Munday, from Abingdon, took part last year and said: "It was a great day."

"It was the first time I've ever done a sponsored run. Amazing people, amazing atmosphere, amazing cause."

"Thanks to the elves - you all made such a difference."

Entry is £17 for 12-year-olds and over or £12 for children for five to 12-years-old. Children under five are free.

Memorial put on hold

A DECISION for a memorial to volunteers who fought in the Spanish Civil War to be built in Bonn Square was deferred by city councillors last week.

The International Brigades Memorial Trust (IBMT) wants to put up a granite stone in the square to remember the seven volunteers from Oxford who lost their lives during the war between 1936 and 1939.

But the West Area Planning Committee, which met on October 8 at Oxford Town Hall, St Aldate's, decided to postpone the decision until the next meeting on November 12 because of reservations over the memorial's size.

Councillors had been advised in an officer's report to refuse the application because the memorial was seen as "visually intrusive".

Vice-chair of the committee Michael Gotch (inset) said: "It was deferred because everybody in the room, including the planning committee, was sympathetic towards the purpose of the memorial."

"Most people thought that Bonn Square was quite a good place to have it but there were some reservations about the siting of it and that it is a large stone."

"The applicants have the opportunity of negotiating with the officers to have a more modest plaque or stone agreed on."

A memorial already stands in the middle of Bonn Square for soldiers who died in an 1897 to 1898 battle against rebel tribes in British India.

New £3m treehouse cancer centre opened

A NEW £3million cancer respite centre has been unveiled in Oxford after a charity spent the last eight years working in temporary buildings.

Maggie's, who give free practical, emotional and social support for people with cancer and their families, opened its treehouse-inspired centre in the grounds of the Churchill Hospital in Headington on Monday.

TV presenter Kirstie Allsopp, film director Richard Curtis and writer Paul Mayhew-Archer officially opened the centre named the Patricia Thompson Building.

The facility is opposite the Cancer and Haematology Centre set within a wooded area supported by stilts.

Maggie's chief executive Laura Lee said: "We started off with a vision and we knew we had a magical bit of land.

"The views make you feel you are in a nature reserve and when people come in here you can see them breathing differently just as a result of being able to see right through the trees.

"The trees bring an ambience into the building that is so supportive and helps us do our work."

A full programme of support, including stress and relaxation workshops, and creative writing courses, have been running from the centre since July.

Ms Allsopp, whose mother died of breast cancer in January said she was honoured to open the centre.

She added: "I realised the importance and value of having the right support to complement medical treatment.

"Maggie's programme of support provides this for people and their centres are warm places where you can find answers to questions and meet people who understand what you are going through."

Becci Berry, 41, from Coleshill near Faringdon, and David Freeman, 70 from Shipton-on-Cherwell near Kidlington, both benefited from Maggie's care in its temporary building as their partners battled cancer.

Mrs Berry, who runs a dairy farm, lost her husband Richard to bowel cancer and secondary liver metastases in February 2011.

She said: "We staggered into Maggie's and were picked up by some lovely ladies who sat us down, made us a cup of tea, and said 'this is what we can do to help'.

"When you suffer from cancer you are at the Churchill an awful lot of the time. It is so critical that it is this close and available."

Mr Freeman's wife Joanna died of breast and pancreatic cancer in 2011.

He added: "My wife didn't come to Maggie's but I did - because there is a moment when someone says 'you're her carer now' which is a terrifying sense of responsibility."

Maggie's has been a national charity for 18 years.

The new Oxford centre is its 18th building to be opened to support people with cancer.

A different take on war

WITNESS how everyday civilians coped with the First World War when the lighthearted production of 'Oh! What a Lovely War' comes to the Wallingford Corn Exchange next week.

On August 4, the UK marked the 100th anniversary of its entry into the First World War.

The production from Monday, October 20, to Saturday, October 25, ties in with the centenary.

By James Richings

jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Director Chris Harris told the Oxfordshire Guardian what the audiences should expect.

"We've got songs, a few battles and some jokes," he said.

"The songs are those of the early 20th Century, notably Ivor Novello's classic 'Keep the Home Fires Burning' along with other songs which were sung in trenches.

"They'll be some knockabout fun in the grouse-shooting, along with rolling news panel captions, recruitment posters, advertisements and of course, the story of how the war progressed.

"I do not think there is another theatrical piece in English which offers such a mixture of styles and emotions.

"It's truly a masterpiece."

Harris also stated that the 100th anniversary of Britain's entry into the war was "relevant" for the production going ahead.

"Some members of the company are contributing stories about their ancestor's roles in the war," he said.

"Also, when I check the news, I see that war never seems to go away. So the play is perennially relevant as well, especially this year."

'Oh! What a Lovely War' was first staged in 1963 by theatre director Joan Littlewood, before Richard Attenborough adapted the production into a musical film in 1969.

Harris, who has been directing the production for the last 10 weeks, said he was 'hugely privileged' to be part of a piece of musical theatre that once starred legendary actors/actresses, such as Maggie Smith and Laurence Olivier.

Tickets cost £10 (or £8 if you book for the first night).

FITZHARRYS SCHOOL

FITZHARRYS School is celebrating record visitor numbers for Open Evening and their week of Open Mornings. Almost 100 families have now visited the Abingdon secondary school during the school day, taking the opportunity to see the students and staff in action in classrooms, laboratories, workshops and on the sports field.

"The feedback has been very warm and very positive" said Fitzharrys Headteacher Jonathan Dennett. "It is great to welcome so many visitors to Fitzharrys to share the day to day experience of our school. Visiting parents have echoed what our current parents tell us, that Fitzharrys is a calm, safe and orderly school with strong behaviour for learning and courteous students. We are really proud of our students, and visitors have been really impressed by their positive attitudes in and out of the classroom."

Fitzharrys students and staff achieved record GCSE results in 2014, up 12% to 60% 5A*-C including English and Maths. A Level results were also a new school record, including for top grades. "We are delighted that there is so much interest in our school" said Mr Dennett. "These record results show that Fitzharrys has a strong foundation for further success. We always welcome visitors, and having a whole week of Open Mornings shows how proud we are of our students and of the experience they get each and every day at Fitzharrys."

As well as a new prospectus, Fitzharrys launches its new website this week. "The prospectus is written largely by the students, which shows how central they are to the success and happiness of our school" said Mr Dennett. "The new website is another way for us to showcase the achievements, spark and success of our school and to share this success with our wider community, giving more people an insight into what makes Fitzharrys School special."

What's on in OXFORDSHIRE | NEWS

The tragedy of Othello

BETRAYAL, jealousy, murder, sex and paranoia all take centre stage in Shakespeare's thriller-tragedy 'Othello' at the Oxford Playhouse next week.

The Moorish prince appointed general for the Venetian army is falsely told his wife Desdemona has been unfaithful.

Othello takes matters into his own hands with devastating and regrettable consequences.

Written between 1601-1604, the adaptation coming to Oxford from Tuesday, October 21, to Saturday, October 25, is performed by the Frantic Assembly Theatre Company.

Mark Ebulue, playing the title character prince, said it is a story that still resonates.

"I really feel that 'Othello' is still relevant today," the Peckham actor told the Oxfordshire Guardian.

"I believe in today's society there are still issues of race.

"Although these issues might be less obvious than they were a few decades ago, I do still feel there's an underlying awareness of people being different,

By James Richings

jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

and that's all at the forefront of Shakespeare's writing."

He added: "There is also a focus on jealousy and that is obviously everywhere in our lives.

"We're jealous of other people's cars, what people wear, what people have and sometimes even what they don't have.

"So I think those themes from the play are still really strong today and so relevant to a modern audience."

Since the 1600s, there have been countless adaptations of the nail-biting thriller.

Ebulue, who has also been in 'Doctor Who' and 'Casualty', described the fight scenes and choreography as "exciting".

Ticket prices are £11 to £26.50 for the show - suitable for over 14s.

The super Alvin bro's

MUSICAL brothers Dave and Phil Alvin are stopping off in Cowley Road next week as part of their world tour.

The American siblings will be at the Art Bar on Thursday, October 23, for a mixture of music compiled by the pair over the years.

They came to prominence in the late 1970s and early 1980s in rock-blues band 'The Blasters'.

In June this year, the brothers released their first album together since 1985, 'Common Ground', which received critical acclaim from music magazines.

Younger of the two Dave Alvin, 58, told the Oxfordshire Guardian: "People attending the show can expect to hear a wide selection of music but with a heavy accent on the blues."

"We'll be performing songs from our new album of Big Bill Broonzy compositions, as well as songs I wrote for my various solo albums."

"We will also perform a few older numbers."

The well-travelled musician, who is also a poet, producer and occasional

By James Richings

actor, has performed in the UK a number of times.

"I first toured in the UK back in 1982 as a member of 'The Blasters' with my brother," he said.

"I performed at The Art Bar back in 2012 with my band, 'The Guilty Ones', and I felt right at home. It was hot, loud and a bit sweaty."

"The audience was enthusiastic, knowledgeable about my 30-year body of work and some of them were quite expressive dancers. You can't ask for much more."

The younger Alvin brother said he plans to relax by playing more music when the tour is over.

He asked: "Is there another better way of relaxing?"

The £19.80 gig starts from 7.30pm.

KBDG PRESENT 'KINDER-TRANSPORT' BY DIANE SAMUELS

As the clouds of war gather in 1930s Germany, a desperate mother forces her young daughter onto a train, sending her out of danger and into the arms of strangers. In peaceful, suburban, 1980s England, a proud mother prepares to say farewell to her grown-up daughter, as she cuts the ties of childhood to leave the family home. Then a chance discovery opens an unhealed wound.

£250k of investment boosts hire fleet

Didcot based plant and tool hire company, Didcot Plant, have been experiencing unprecedented periods of busyness in 2014 and as a result have in the last month added £250k worth of new equipment to their hire fleet.

Huge demand for large plant over the spring and summer had stretched the existing fleet, so since 1 September Didcot Plant has ramped up their investment program and purchased (amongst other things) four new excavators from Volvo and Kubota, two new dumpers from Thwaites and a new Bomag 120 tandem roller.

Also added to their fleet during this time has been three digger mounted ProDem hydraulic breakers and two general purpose Ifor Williams trailers.

You can check out the new items at www.didcotplant.co.uk. To place an order or make an enquiry ring 01235 814000.

DRIVEWAY RENOVATION

We also provide a block driveway renovation service. If you have a driveway that's looking a little worse for wear, and you don't want to go the whole way and replace it, simply give us a call and we can come and restore it to its former glory.

We employ a simple three stage renovation process when restoring driveways - clean, sand and seal. The first stage is a straightforward cleaning of your driveway, removing any accumulated grime and rejuvenating the paving. After this, we sweep sand across your driveway to fill the grooves between the blocks, restoring the evenness and uniformity of your driveway. Finally, when renovating non-permeable driveways, we apply a waterproofing sealant, which aids and abets water runoff and drainage.

Client testimonial July 2014

"Would highly recommend. From Darren giving us the quote right through to the completion, we were kept informed and updated. The team are very hard working, polite and attentive of your requirements. The difference the work has made, makes the front of our house so much better and lots of neighbours have commented on how hard the guys worked and what a great job they have done."

Lord Baker visits MINI Plant Oxford

LORD Baker, the mastermind behind University Technical Colleges, visited the MINI Plant in a bid to encourage more local businesses to get behind the scheme.

Oxfordshire UTC, based in Didcot, is set to open in September 2015 specialising in life sciences, physical sciences and engineering. Activate Learning is the lead sponsor and has already opened a UTC in Reading. The college is being backed by industrial supporters, including MINI Plant Oxford, as well as Reading and Royal Holloway Universities.

The technical college is aimed at ensuring that young people gain specialist skills and knowledge relevant for today's high-tech industries and where they can study in a professional environment to help them prepare for the career in business and industry.

Lord Baker and the UTC's new principal, Owain Johns, were shown around the MINI Plant's training school.

Lord Baker, Chairman of the Baker Dearing Educational Trust, said: "This is an impressive example of industry working closely with education to provide valuable local training. This is why I am delighted that MINI Plant Oxford is a partner in the creation of the new UTC Oxfordshire.

"The UTC will offer young people across the region the chance to combine an academic education with an opportunity to learn the essential technical and practical skills needed to pursue careers in sectors like advanced engineering. There is an urgent need for these skills and I am confident that MINI Plant Oxford, and other businesses in the area, will benefit a great deal from this new source of talent."

Plant Oxford has a long-established apprenticeship programme which lasts between three and four years and covers a wide range of skills from human resources and business to electrical maintenance and engineering. The plant currently has 119 apprentices going through the scheme.

Simon Farrall, head of apprentice and associate training at BMW Group UK, said: "Investment in young people is a key part of our development strategy for the plants. We need to foster the development of talented young engineers and technicians to become the MINI employees of the future. The UTC supports this objective by providing us with a steady stream of suitable candidates."

The Oxfordshire UTC will admit up to 600 young people aged 14 to 19 and MINI Plant Oxford will provide curriculum advice, project support and visits.

Owain Johns, the new Principal of Oxfordshire UTC, said: "We are delighted that today we could bring together Lord Baker's

Ford offers up its newest green SUV for £14,995 to £16,495 in petrol and diesel

Second generation EcoSport

SINCE its introduction to the world in 1903, Ford has released a number of iconic vehicles we witness on a daily basis.

The Escort, the Focus, the Mondeo and the Fusion spring to mind.

And the car giant has added a second generation Ford EcoSport to the line.

The latest edition has a high ground clearance, front and rear skid plates and rear-mounted spare wheel.

It includes 16" alloy wheels, front and rear skid plates, a rear-mounted spare wheel and silver roof rails.

For mod cons the new EcoSport includes an internal calls and music system used by voice command - from which you can also access text messages.

It comes in either a petrol or a diesel motor.

The car's body shape and design details like the rear pillar 'kicker,' are meant to deliver a lower wind resistance and aim to give better fuel efficiency.

The new 1.0 litre three-cylinder Eco-

REVIEW: Ford EcoSport

By James Richings

Boost petrol engine, claims to give you all the power you would expect from a conventional 1.6 engine (up to 125 PS), while delivering around 24 per cent better fuel economy and 25 per cent lower CO2 emissions.

In the 1.5 litre DV5 diesel option, you can enjoy up to 91PS of power, as well as 61.4 combined mpg fuel efficiency.

This advanced engine is available with a five-speed manual transmission that delivers high torque (for fewer gear changes and pulling power) and CO2 emissions of just 120g/km.

In recognition of its advanced technology and exceptional efficiency, EcoBoost has been awarded International Engine of the Year on two separate occasions.

Prices for the latest generation of the Ford EcoSport will range from £14,995 to £16,495.

Scania Abingdon - Not just for truckers...

YOU could be forgiven for assuming Scania are all about large trucks and giant exhaust systems. Scania Abingdon have made this reputable brand and garage services accessible to all with Andy Ledbury the Branch Controller leading the team with a totally forward thinking approach. As a woman, taking my car for repairs to a garage associated with trucks would usually be a reason to look elsewhere, but the Abingdon branch is very female friendly with full reception facilities and an adjacent waiting area kitted out with a PC and Tablet PC with internet service for those who need to keep on working while waiting for their car.

Also inside the waiting area is a large TV screen, which allows you to watch your car being worked upon, so you can see what is happening every step of the way.

Scania also offer fixed price repairs, so the price you see is the price you pay. It couldn't be easier for those of us who don't find it convenient to get to a garage when you have a busy working life, so at Scania Abingdon, you can take your car in from as early as 7am right up until 9pm Monday -

Friday or Saturday from 8am until 12 noon, so you have total flexibility.

The full range of services are available for cars and vans. MoT's are £38 and Services are from £99, or large van Services from £120.

Scania Abingdon carry out all repairs.

During the Summer months they can even make sure you keep your cool with a full air conditioning service from just £36.

The team at Scania Abingdon have a combined 110 years experience in vehicle repairs and servicing, so you can be sure you are in good hands.

Scania Abingdon are at; Unit 6-7 Eyston Way, Ashville Trading Estate, Abingdon, OX14 1TR. Tel: 01235 553596, you can also email them at: Abingdon.enquiries@scania.com

Scott upbeat despite sixth successive loss

NICK Scott believes results will eventually go London Welsh's way after an improved performance in last Saturday's 23-3 defeat at home to Newcastle Falcons.

The visitors condemned Welsh to a sixth straight Aviva Premiership loss leaving them eight points adrift at the bottom of the table.

However, the Exiles were left heartened by a determined performance where only a cutting edge was lacking.

Welsh spent almost the entire second half camped in Newcastle's 22 but they could not find a way through the visitors' defence.

"It's been a tough start," said Scott.

"But even after bad results everyone has come in and been ready to work hard.

"Last weekend showed that what we are doing on the training pitch is coming through and we need to keep plugging away.

"We do have a good bunch of guys and I am sure we will get some wins and points coming our way."

The Exiles now have a four-week break from the league with European Rugby Champions Cup and LV= Cup ties dominating the fixtures.

And the winger is hoping the next month will stand Welsh in good stead ahead of the next round of the Aviva Premiership against London Wasps on November 16.

Scott said: "We look at these four weeks as a massive period.

"It will be vital for either giving players who have played a lot a rest or giving people chances who deserve it, and trying different combinations to see what best suits us.

"On Saturday we put a performance in for 80 minutes and the spirit was definitely there but we're disappointed with the result."

The winger added: "But its only six games and we're looking forward to the next four weeks which we think are important to readjust."

The Exiles travel to France on Saturday as they face Lyon in the European Rugby Champions Cup at the Matmut Stadium.

City put to the sword by Solihull Moors

OXFORD City's two-match winning run in the Vanarama Conference North came to an abrupt end last Saturday as they were thumped 4-1 at home by Solihull Moors.

Justin Merritt's men would have moved up to second with a win, but instead they remain third in the table, four points behind AFC Fylde.

Darren Byfield (2), Omar Bogle and Ryan Beswick scored for the visitors while Marlon Jackson netted City's consolation.

Byfield tapped home in the first half after Mark Scott had denied Beswick before Bogle made it 2-0.

City pushed for a goal after the break but the match was all but ended as a contest when Beswick and Byfield scored within four minutes of each other.

Jackson converted Declan Benjamin's cross shortly after but it turned out to be just a consolation.

City will now look to bounce back from the defeat as they make the trip to Lowestoft Town on Saturday.

Lowestoft have lost their last three games in the Vanarama Conference North, scoring only once in the process, and are 17th in the table.

City's next home game is on October 25 when they welcome Hednesford Town to Marsh Lane.

Burnell in fighting mood as Exiles look to prove their worth in top-flight

HEAD coach Justin Burnell said he will "not shy away from a fight" after London Welsh were condemned to a sixth straight defeat in the Aviva Premiership last Saturday.

The Exiles were beaten 23-3 by Newcastle Falcons at the Kassam Stadium last weekend and are rooted to the bottom of the table.

Burnell's side will now turn their attention to the European Rugby Challenge Cup and the LV= Cup over the next four weeks, before the Premiership reconvenes on November 16.

He said: "I don't think the league was decided on Saturday - there's 16 games to go.

"We've got a lot of spirit and we have got a lot of fight.

"We've just got to keep chipping away and working. I'm never one to shy away from a fight."

The Exiles face Lyon in the European Rugby Challenge Cup on Saturday and Burnell has described the next month as "ginormous" for his side.

"It's a crucial time for us - to assess where we're at," he said.

"We've got to look at different combinations; we've also got to get back up to a level of freshness.

"This next four weeks is absolutely ginormous for us."

PREMIERSHIP RUGBY IN OXFORD - BE PART OF IT

Newey gives honest assessment of defeat

TOM Newey says Oxford United need to show a reaction this weekend after last Saturday's hammering at Cambridge United.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

United were beaten 5-1 at the Abbey Stadium and slipped back into the relegation zone, having recorded only two wins so far this season.

Top scorer Danny Hylton headed United ahead on nine minutes but Kwesi Appiah scored twice just before half-time.

Ryan Donaldson, Tom Elliott and Robbie Simpson all scored in the second half to condemn United to their heaviest defeat under head coach Michael Appleton.

The U's welcome bottom side Tranmere Rovers to the Kassam Stadium on Saturday and Newey says a response is needed.

He added: "It (last Saturday's performance) was nowhere near good enough.

"Everybody played poor, there were no positives.

"We need to address it now; work hard, individually and collectively put the work in and make sure we meet the standards that we need to meet."

United have taken 10 points from 12 games so far this season and started well against Cambridge last Saturday when Hylton headed home Newey's cross.

However, the goal seemed to be just what Cambridge needed and they deservedly hit back on 41 minutes when Appiah thumped the ball into the top corner on the half-volley.

The hosts soon made it 2-1 as Appiah took advantage of Michael Collins' loose pass and beat Clarke at the second attempt.

It seemed all but over as a contest when Donaldson slotted home on 54 minutes and then Elliott headed in a fourth just moments later.

Simpson further added to United's misery by tapping home on 89 minutes and Newey admitted he and his teammates simply were not good enough.

The left-back said: "As individuals and a collective we know.

"It is down to us when we cross that white line and we were second best all over the pitch.

"We took the lead and deserved to because we started bright.

"But pretty much from then Clarke's kept us in it and we have conceded two goals just before half time and then in the second half we were just very very poor."

Kidlington advance in Floodlit Cup

KIDLINGTON put four past Thatcham Town on Tuesday night to advance to the third round of the Flying Press Floodlit Cup.

Dan Gardner, Jack Quainton, Ryan Curtin and Tony Castle netted as Kidlington triumphed 4-2 in the second round.

Goals from Simieon Howell and Craig Jennings had given Thatcham a 2-1 lead but Kidlington stormed back to clinch the win.

Kidlington turn their attentions to the Bluefin Sport Challenge Cup on Saturday as they face Lydney Town in the first round.

Elsewhere, Carterton and Oxford City Nomads also advanced in the Floodlit Cup with wins over Cheltenham Saracens and Thame United.

However, Milton United were knocked out after suffering a 4-2 defeat at Fairford Town.

Ardley United are in Bluefin Sport Challenge Cup action on Saturday when they face Cheltenham Saracens.

Meanwhile, Thame United return to Hellenic Premier Division action with a trip to Newbury.

Smith in positive spirits ahead of Australia

OXFORD'S Bradley Smith finished ninth in last Saturday's Japanese Grand Prix in Motegi and is upbeat as MotoGP heads for Australia this weekend.

The 23-year-old Yamaha Tech3 rider is tenth in the rider standing with 92 points and secured his eleventh top 10 finish of the year last Sunday.

Smith was 23 seconds behind Factory Yamaha rider Jorge Lorenzo who beat world champion Marc Marquez to the flag at Motegi.

And while Marquez is now celebrating his second successive MotoGP title, Smith is hoping for more improvement on Sunday at Phillip Island where he finished sixth last year.

Smith said: "Ninth position seems to be where we are at right now or at least for this race (Japan) and I extracted the most from myself and my motorcycle here in Motegi.

"However, in Phillip Island I am sure that we can have a better result as it is a track that I really enjoyed last year on the Yamaha, which performed well.

"So, I hope to take the consistency and the positives from Motegi and turn it into a stronger result in Australia."

With the championship rapped up, second place is up for grabs as Valentino Rossi and Dani Pedrosa are level on 230 points and Lorenzo is only three points behind in fourth.

After this weekend, MotoGP heads for Sepang, Malaysia, on October 26 before the last round in Valencia, Spain, on November 9.

Ackling in high spirits after 6-1 win

WANTAGE Town manager Gary Ackling is urging his team to build upon last Saturday's thumping 6-1 win over Bashley.

Danny Lachacz (2), Xapi Arnau (2), Tom Melledew and Jimmy Deabill all scored for the Freds, cancelling out Clive Makoni's 12th minute opener.

The win lifted Wantage up to 18th in Division One South and West as a result.

However, Ackling, who said his position would have been under pressure had Wantage lost at Bashley last Saturday, was concerned when the hosts took the lead.

He said: "I thought it would be a lot tighter and when they took the lead I thought 'oh god, here we go, I'll get my P45' but we played for a 30 minute spell and killed them off.

"They couldn't handle us, we scored some fantastic goals and the game was done at half-time; at 5-1 there was no way back for them.

"If somebody had offered me that result before the game I would have snatched their hand off.

"It was a big win for us and hopefully we can build on that now."

Despite the convincing win, Ackling said it was far from a perfect showing at Bashley.

He added: "We're not getting too carried away but it is a confidence booster for us."

Wantage face Tiverton Town in the preliminary round of the FA Trophy on Saturday and Ackling said: "If we can go there and keep it tight I think we have got a chance."

Plato helps MG to title at Brands Hatch

JASON Plato said he was delighted to help his MG team clinch the manufacturer's title at the last round of the British Touring Car Championship at Brands Hatch last Sunday.

MG won the title by 95 points from Honda after Plato won the first race of the day last Sunday.

The 47-year-old finished 13th in race two and seventh in the last race to secure second in the driver standings behind eBay Motors driver Colin Turkington.

Plato said: "The most important thing for us is the manufacturer's title.

"It's a fantastic result and I'm dead chuffed, it's been a great effort from Triple Eight and MG.

"Just reward for three years hard work? I think so.

"As a team, we've done a brilliant job.

"To come from not having a shell six weeks before the first race in 2012 to where we are last year and this year, we've been the dominant force."

Plato finished 35 points behind Turkington in the standings and was full of praise for a driver who dominated from the first race.

He said: "Colin, the car and the team are world class.

"I've said it a few times that it would've been wrong for him to have a disaster - this is his moment, he deserves it and he needs to enjoy the moment."

DIDDY TARGET TROPHY RUN

Railwaymen take on Marlow this Saturday

JOINT manager Ian Concannon says Didcot Town will be treating this Saturday's FA Trophy Preliminary Round tie at home to Marlow like a league game.

Didcot are currently on a five-match unbeaten run in Division One South & West and full of confidence despite Tuesday's penalty shoot-out defeat to North Leigh in the Red Insure Cup.

The Railwaymen are third in the league and face a Marlow side that are 15th in Division One Central at Loop Meadow this weekend.

A place in the first round and £2,500 in prize money is up for grabs and Concannon and joint boss Jamie Heapy want to progress.

Concannon said: "We will be fielding a strong team and be treating it like a normal league game.

"We are expecting a tough game but we're at home and we're playing some good football at the moment which is encouraging."

He continued: "All clubs look at cup competitions and how they can generate some money to help with running the club.

"It's important for the players and the club to progress to the next rounds and to see where it takes us."

night after the sides were locked at 4-4 after extra-time in the first round of the Red Insure Cup.

Sam Elkins returned from suspension to give Didcot the lead before a John Mills brace put the Railwaymen seemingly in control at 3-0.

However, the visitors came roaring back and goals from Brian Bowles, Morgan Williams and Kieran Sanders forced extra-time.

Ryan Brooks put Didcot ahead again before Callum McNish equalised, taking the tie to penalties.

And unfortunately for Didcot, the visitors emerged victorious after Elkins and Brooks missed from the spot.

Concannon was left frustrated by defensive errors which saw Didcot give away a three-goal lead and he added: "We have to make the right decisions at the right time.

"But we will overcome it and we just need to clean up the basic errors which are becoming a bit of a problem.

"I'm not concerned about people missing penalties in a shoot-out, it's a lottery, and they are big and brave enough to put themselves forward."
